

FUTURISTIC AND HISTORICAL STORIES

that will interest a male audience

(Ages 12-18)

The Hitchhiker's Guide to the Galaxy

By Douglas Adams
Seconds before Earth is demolished Arthur Dent is plucked off the planet by his friend Ford, a researcher for the Hitchhiker's Guide to the Galaxy.

Ender's Game

By Orson Scott Card
Trained to be the ultimate child-warrior in a battle against the Buggers (aliens from space), Ender struggles to make sense of the war, and his feelings of loneliness.

The House of Windjammer

By V.A. Richardson
Adam tries to keep his family afloat after Tulip fever sweeps Amsterdam and his father dies.

A River Runs Through It

By Norman Maclean
The story of two sons of a minister, their lives together and apart... and fly-fishing.

Catch 22

By Joseph Heller
The hilarious satire that inspired millions like it, this is the story of Yossarian who tries in vain to escape the Catch-22 of the Great Loyalty Oath.

Little Brother

By Cory Doctorow
After terrorist threats launch the world into Big Brother type surveillance initiatives, Marcus decides to outwit his school's surveillance systems.

The Boy in the Striped Pajamas

By John Boyne
Living alongside a concentration camp in World War II, Bruno befriends a Jewish boy, with devastating consequences.

The Assassination of Jesse James

By Ron Hansen
A story based on the actual lives of Jesse James and Robert Ford, this is for fans of the wild west.

Hans Brinker, or the Silver Skates

By Mary Mapes Dodge
Poor, Hans and his sister have no hope of winning the silver skates in the upcoming race on wooden skates. Or do they?

Feed

By M. T. Anderson
Thanks to implants in their brain, Titus and his friends listen to a constant stream of what to like and what to think- until Titus meets Violet, a girl without a feed.